

Fall is here and this season will be defined by bursts of colours as JessGo unleashes her latest creative expressions in a series of jewels around the city.

As usual, Jessica "JessGo" Gorlicky's artistic creations are a reflection of her philosophy — loving life and living it to the fullest. In her latest line of paintings and jewelry, JessGo experiments with different palettes as she tries to interpret the female spirit in their facial expressions. Each exhibit that will be showcasing her art in the coming months was chosen because of the way they complement JessGo's work with their airy, mood-lit rooms and commitment to a strong artistic spirit.

Several spots around the city will exhibit the latest Jessgo Jewels originals, including Sense of Independence and Envy Boutique, Designs by Naomi, and fashion power house The Agency.

"For me it's really easy to connect with Jessica's work, because it always evokes such a strong reaction in me," said Toronto actress Talia Russo, a collector of Jessgo's jewelry. "We're always looking forward to seeing what Jess has created after a few weeks go by."

Throughout her career as a professional artist, JessGo has realized her work has created a buzz among art professionals and art aficionados. That's why she decided to take her creativity a step further by creating a line of jewelry.

Each silver-plated piece is decorated with semi-precious Swarovski crystals plus a touch of that unmistakable JessGo flare. Flowers, materials, different shapes and colours make each piece one-of-a-kind.

JessGo's jewelry made a splash in the New York fashion scene this summer and now the artist is ready to introduce her latest creations to the Toronto market.

"I love using crystal colours to make a piece come alive," she said. "The same rules that I have taken from my paintings I have worked into my jewelry and it's just a bonus that people are into them and want to wear them too."

JessGo's passion is infectious. Mixing and matching several of her pieces around her neck caught the attention of a new client who bought one off of her on the spot.

Lauren Hayward, a bridal consultant at Toronto's foremost bridal shops says: "I am so in love with this stuff I want them all! I am fascinated that each of these pieces was made by hand and was carefully crafted in such an individualistic fashion. It's really impressive stuff!"

Sometimes it's hard to let go of her stuff, JessGo admitted, especially because each piece is a labour of love.

"It's all worth it, even when at the end of the day I remember that I made it for myself," she said laughing. "I just really enjoy when people enjoy my work. It makes it all worthwhile."